Five Things You Didn't Know About Working with Demco

For more than 120 years, the Demco team has remained focused on education. A leading learning environments company, Demco creates spaces that empower educators and the families they serve.

Any change — big or small — can be intimidating. Recognizing this, Demco offers an unrivaled balance of personalized service and full-scale support to make each project easier and more effective. Here are five things you probably didn't know about working with Demco:

1. Schools can give new furniture a test run with a pilot classroom.
2. Demco can help remove outgoing furniture.
3. Demco can incorporate your existing pieces into your new design.
4. Demco can help you develop standards and consistency across campuses.
5. Demco offers change management to help shift mindsets.

Whether it's setting up pilot classrooms using proposed designs or providing change management, only Demco brings together all the best solutions to help create the ideal learning environment every time.
